ASKS POLICEMAN TO LOCK HIM UP

"I Just Fell in the Canal, and I'm Drunk; Please Lock Me Up"—He Was.

"Lock me up, officer," said a man who was drenched to the skin, late yesterday afternoon to Patrolman Crump, who was standing at Broad and Eighth Street. Surprised, Crump turned. "I'm not joking," continued the wet individual in an earnest tone. "I just fell in the canal, and besides, I'm drunk. Just lock me up, that's all I want."

The stranger's statements were not believed by his appearance. He was as plainly drunk as he was wet. After a conference with Sergeant Sheppard, Crump decided to comply with the request, and the stranger was sent to the First Police Station. There his name was entered on the blotter as R. H. Hamilton, thirty-two years old, a laborer.

"I was walking over the bridge at Seventh Street," said Hamilton, "and I fell in. That's all, except some fellows who saw me, pulled me out. I'll be all right when I get sober."

Hamilton walked from Seventh and Canal Streets to Eighth and Broad before he reached for safekeeping. He said he had been living in Canal Street, and yesterday was forced to give up his room.

He was allowed to dry and sober up at the station-house and then discharged.

NEW SOUTHSIDE SEWER

Bonds, Recommendations $27,541.58 for Fourteenth Street Improvement. The Administrative Board yesterday forwarded to the Board of Aldermen a resolution appropriating $27,541.58 for the construction of a sewer on Fourteenth Street between Main and McDougall Streets, South Richmond. The plan is to construct a sewer street a trunk sewer to connect with the main sewer line under construction in that part of the city.

Charles A. Taylor, Jr., Superintendent of playgrounds, was authorized by the board to employ Henry Davis as caretaker of the Pontchartrain Playground, and to appoint Miss Ada N. Bell to the position vacant by the resignation of Miss Lucy Witt.

Colonel Chapman Improving. Colonel W. H. Chapman, United States Internal Revenue agent for this district, who is ill in his home, 107 South Third Street, with what is feared to be an attack of pneumonia, was reported yesterday to be regaining his normal condition. His physicians are unable to pronounce the illness, but he can return to his desk but it is not thought that he will be confined indoors long.

RIGHT SIDE LOSES ITS LAST SALOON

Kain Barroom, on South Side of Broad, Transfers to North Second.

Second Street, north of Broad, according to Judge Richardson, of the Hustings Court, is the leading business thoroughfare of the colored district, and is, therefore, a "suitable, convenient and appropriate" place for the conduct of the retail liquor business. In conformity with this view, Judge Richardson yesterday granted to M. Kain a permit for the transfer of his saloon from the Kain building at 19 East Broad Street, to 800 North Second Street.

The order was entered over the protest of colored residents of the North Second Street district, who appeared before the court in opposition to the location of a saloon in their neighborhood. The protesting delegations included several ministers of colored churches. In granting the permit, Judge Richardson expressed the opinion that it was better to locate saloons on business thoroughfares as opposed to streets more exclusively residential. North Second Street, he held, was becoming the central business street leading from the northern section of the city to Broad Street, and was, therefore, a suitable place for the saloon.

The transfer marks the removal of the last saloon from the south side of Broad Street. The established sentiment has been to refuse liquor licenses for that side of the street, and with the removal of its last barroom the "right" side of Broad Street becomes "dry." It is believed, for good.

John M. Ryan, who was refused a renewal of license to conduct his saloon at 1221 West Leigh Street, was granted a transfer yesterday to 414 West Broad Street. The Leigh Street license was revoked solely on the request of citizens residing in the neighborhood, who objected to a barroom in the residential district. In accordance to the demand for a withholding of the license, Judge Richardson made it clear at the time that there were no other charges against Mr. Ryan or his manner of conducting the business. A delegation of citizens appeared yesterday in opposition to the granting of a license for the saloon at 414 West Broad Street, but their objections were overruled on the ground that the street was given up almost wholly to business, and was, therefore, a suitable place for a saloon.

BARS TO CLOSE

Police to Be Open To-Morrow From 4:50 A. M. to 7:20 P. M. Notwithstanding the presence in Richmond of some hundreds of T. P. A. visitors, saloons all over the city will remain closed until Friday morning, in accordance with the Byrd law. Voters in the primary to-morrow will have an unusually long time in which to cast their ballots, the polls opening at sunrise, 4:50 A. M., and closing at sunset, 7:20 P. M., the day being within a few minutes of the longest in the year. It is expected that about 8,000 ballots will be cast.

The City Democratic Committee will meet at the City Auditorium to-morrow night at 8 o'clock to receive returns.

ASKS $25,000 FOR SMOOTH PAVING

New Resolution Before Aldermen Wants Broad Street Paved to Foushee.

MOVE POLICE HEADQUARTERS

Communication From Mayor Reports Present Home Inadequate for Department.

Broad Street smooth paving still continues as the Council Nemesis. Latest in the effort to secure action on this matter is Alderman Marx Gunst, who last night at the meeting of the Board of Aldermen introduced a joint resolution appropriating the sum of $25,000 or as much of that sum as may be needed, to pave with asphalt block Broad Street from the point where the present smooth paving ends at Third and Broad, to the west line of Foushee Street.

The resolution sets forth that it is important that the street car tracks west of Third Street on Broad be put in better repair, and that such repair work should proceed simultaneously with the smooth paving of the street. It directs the appropriation of $25,000 to the credit of the account, "Streets and Pavement." "Streets and Pavement" is a fund established by the Board to be devoted by the Administrative Board to the purpose named. The resolution was referred to the Finance Committee for report to either branch.

John Two Others. The Gunst resolution joins two others of like nature that have been slumbering peacefully in the Finance Committee for several weeks. The original blanket appropriation of $25,000 for street improvements was intended by the Council to include the smooth paving of Broad Street westward from Third, but the entire sum was expended by the Administrative Board for other street improvements. Two recommendations providing for the Broad Street paving, were later submitted by the board—one by means of the transfer to the street fund of a $40,000 appropriation intended for the construction of a new market house, and the other by a $45,000 special appropriation for the purpose. The transfer of the market fund was overwhelmingly rejected by the Council. A statement to this effect was made recently to the Administrative Board by Secretary W. A. Clarke, Jr., of the Retail Merchants' Association.

It is believed now that there will be no Broad Street paving this year. The Finance Committee, it appears, has neither the funds nor the inclination to report the project favorably at this time, and the matter, however, will object to the tearing up of the street in the busy fall season. A statement to this effect was made recently to the Administrative Board by Secretary W. A. Clarke, Jr., of the Retail Merchants' Association.

Short Business Session. The Aldermen failed to muster the two-thirds majority necessary for the passage of resolutions carrying appropriations in excess of $100, and held a short session devoted to the disposition of minor matters. Another meeting will be called by President Adams for next week to take up the large docket that went over.

A communication from Mayor Ainslie was reported, declaring that the present police headquarters, located in the Hall, were inadequate for the needs of the department. With the advice of the Administrative Board a joint committee from that body and the Board of Police Commissioners, the Mayor reported, has made a search for suitable quarters elsewhere. Several buildings are available.

The Mayor's communication inclosed a joint resolution prepared by the City Attorney appropriating the sum of $3,000 or so much thereof as may be necessary to be applied to the rental for one year of quarters for the police. The Board passed the ordinance authorizing the T. and E. Laundry Company to erect a stable in the rear of its building on Marshall Street between Gilmore and Hancock Streets. The ordinance was passed last week by the Common Council, after being opposed in committee by a delegation of citizens.

A resolution appropriating $200 for the cleaning of stone work on the Davis, Lee and Stuart Monuments, reported from the Finance Committee with the land belongs to the Sea-Board Air Line Railway. The ordinance was passed last week by the Common Council, after being opposed in committee by a delegation of citizens.

Alderman Puller introduced a resolution repealing the resolution of April 12, which directed the Council to acquire by condemnation proceedings or purchase a parcel of land on the north side of Dock Street between Fifteenth Street and the property owned by the city. The land belongs to the Sea-Board Air Line Railway, and was to have been used for the erection of a gas holder. The resolution was referred to the Committee on Public Buildings, Properties and Utilities.

A communication was submitted from the Health Department, asking for an appropriation of $150 from its funds to defray the expenses of the Chief Health Officer to a medical convention in Denver, Col. It was referred to the Finance Committee.

POSSE IN BATTLE AT HIDDEN STILL

Moonshtiner Shot in Raid by Revenue Officers Near South Boston.

OFFICERS ESCAPE INJURY

Hold Fire Until Cornered Men Begin Shooting at Close Range, Then Return It.

Official report of a bloody fight between revenue officers and a party of moonshiners early Monday morning in a wild ravine near South Boston, Va., in the course of which one of the moonshiners was shot and badly wounded, was received yesterday morning by Revenue Agent Chapman. A fusillade of shots was exchanged between three officers and the illicit distillers. An eighty-gallon copper still, together with a large quantity of spirits, was raised by the agents and destroyed.

In his account of the raid, Special Gauger Nitzer, who was in charge of the posse, completely exonerates the revenue men from any blame in connection with the shooting. He says that the moonshiners, the officers making no pretense of using their revolvers until the moonshiners resisted arrest and fired the first shots. Due to the wild nature of the country around the hidden still, and the fact that the posse was halted when it was thought one of the officers had been dropped by a moonshiner's bullet, the fugitives made good their escape into the woods. The officers believe they can swear to the identity of at least one of the moonshiners, the one who was shot.

Revenue Agent Chapman forwarded an official report of the raid to Washington yesterday afternoon, recommending that the special gauger be commended for his work and the officers be relieved of blame for the wounding of the illicit distiller.

Special Gauger Nitzer got off the train in South Boston at 2:30 o'clock Monday morning, and drove two deputies, and made off for the reported location of the illicit distillery before daylight had revealed his presence to any one in the town. About 4:30 o'clock the revenue posse arrived at the wild ravine in which was situated the still, and found the furnace still warm, but no attendants in sight. Hiding themselves in the bushes, the officers waited until shortly after 5 o'clock, when one man made his appearance at the still, and after working around it for a few minutes, suddenly disappeared.

He returned in about an half hour in company with a second moonshiner, and the two set to work at once. For some time the revenue officers watched, and looking directly at the spot where Nitzer was concealed, stopped working and raised up in an attentive attitude. The officers waited longer, Nitzer broke from his cover and ran toward the two distillers, shouting for them to surrender. For reply both turned and fled toward the spot occupied by the still, and the revenue posse. These two officers suddenly rose out of the bush in front of the fleeing moonshiners, who, without arms, were armed directly at the revenue men.

The fire was returned, and one of the moonshiners staggered and dropped as if he had been wounded. In the face of constant fire, the revenue officers continued the pursuit until one of their number stumbled and fell, and thinking the moonshiners' bullets had found him, the officers turned aside to assist the officer. When they discovered that he was untouched, it was too late to hope to overtake the fugitives.

Other officers returned to the still, destroyed the furnace and spilled 800 gallons of beer, five gallons of corn whiskey and ten gallons of low wine. The still was capable of turning out twenty gallons of proof spirits a day.

SHOT IN LEG

Negro Gets Mad When He Finds Man Writing His Name and Opens Fire. A man who wrote his name and got away with it, Alexander Smith, colored, is said to have remarked yesterday afternoon about 5 o'clock, and then drew a revolver and shot Morgan Jones, also colored, through the leg.

The shooting took place at 930 North Second Street, where Morgan was engaged in moving some furniture for Smith. The latter, who made no effort to escape, was taken in custody by Bicycle Policeman Reid and locked up at the Second Police Station on the charge of felonious assault.

Smith is said to have seen Morgan scribbling his name in various places, and this led to the remark, which was followed by the shooting.

Morgan was rendered emergency treatment by Dr. H. T. Davis, an ambulance surgeon, and removed to the City Hospital. His condition was not regarded as serious.

Daley's Hearing Goes Over. The hearing of E. Daley, of 1724 East Broad Street, charged with running down Miss Adele Williams, of 214 North Twenty-third Street, with his automobile, was continued yesterday morning in Police Court. Because of her injuries it will be several days before Miss Williams will be able to appear in court.

Fined $25 for Reckless. Arthur Hughes, colored, was fined $25 and costs yesterday morning in Police Court for reckless driving. He was attempting to strike him with a whip. The negro was arrested by Gary on the charge of recklessly driving a team in the street.

Gets $530 Damages. The jury in the Law and Equity Court yesterday awarded damages in the sum of $530 to H. T. Davis against W. J. Ready. The plaintiff declared himself satisfied with that amount and the case was dismissed from the docket.

REVENUE SERVICE EXPECTS SHAKE-UP

Commissioner Osborn Issues Blunt Warning of Impending Transfer of Officers.

Formal warning of a shake-up in the United States Internal Revenue Service is conveyed by Commissioner Osborn to those in the employ of his office in the shape of an order published in the last issue of Treasury Decisions, just received by Revenue Agent Chapman. The order is thereby spread broadcast, and official indication given of a reorganization of the service affecting every office in the country.

The same communication, the commissioner says, that he is tired of the importunities of revenue officers through influential friends in Washington, to secure this berth or that, internal revenue officers are expected to serve where their services can be employed to the best advantage, in the spread of the order. The commissioner's remark of the commissioner says: "There is going to be a general reorganization of the service and a consequent transferring of officers, pack boys and catched and ready to move where you are ordered. If you are not satisfied with your new assignment, your resignation will be accepted. Let's have less conversation, and let's have more practice," the order reads, "with some officers assigned to duty under the supervision of internal revenue agents, as well as some internal revenue agents, to complain in case their assignments are not to their liking and in some instances to enlist the aid of influential persons in their efforts to secure assignment to the particular work and locality they desire. This practice must cease at once."

Internal revenue agents and officers assigned to duty under their supervision are expected to operate where their services are required, and those who are unwilling or unable to do so are not fitted for this class of work, and are thereby to seek transfers to work of a different character."

"In the interests of economy and efficiency, save in exceptional instances, it is necessary to transfer officers of this class from one place to another and from one part of the country to another, and any effort on the part of the members of this force to prevent such transfer results in embarrassment to the head of the bureau."

No little excitement has followed the dissemination of this blunt warning from headquarters of impending reorganization among the revenue service employees of this district. There is no information at hand upon which to base speculations affecting this particular district, and it is possible that Collector Lowry and Revenue Agent Chapman may retain their forces intact.

REDMOND RUNS AGAIN

Independent Candidate in Field for

Whoever wins in the fight for City Sergeant to-morrow must cross swords on November 4 with J. Redmond, an independent candidate, who cards are already in circulation. As Mr. Redmond has been running steadily but unsuccessfully for several years, the Satterfield nor Griggs prospects are not greatly alarmed at the prospect, nor is it believed for one minute that the Democratic party in Virginia will permit to go to an independent as office estimated to yield a net income of from $10,000 to $15,000 a year.

Four years ago Mr. Redmond gathered about him the Republicans, then more united than at present, and all those dissatisfied with the victory of Mr. Satterfield in the three-cornered fight with James Smith and James Anderson, and the result stood Redmond, 1,038; Satterfield, 3,262. After reciting this record, Mr. Redmond says that if Griggs can beat Satterfield he has a good medal waiting at the Jewellers for him.

"Beware of hot air, and sit down and think of a big city and State run by one party who puts us forty-third in intelligence in the United States, and forty-six. Get wise and pull loose." is the way Mr. Redmond closes his appeal. Democratic leaders into whose hands the card had fallen last night are not worrying.

KILLED BY TRAIN

R. M. Brooks, of Richmond, Run Over in Potomac Yards, Near Alexandria. R. M. Brooks, twenty-five years old, of 516 North Twenty-fourth Street, a brakeman on the Richmond, Fredericksburg and Potomac Railroad, was struck by a passenger train in the Potomac yards, near Alexandria, yesterday morning, and died of his injuries two hours later. The body was brought to Richmond last night and will be sent to his former home near Miller's Tavern, in King and Queen County, where burial will take place this afternoon.

Mr. Brooks had a number of friends in Richmond, and their sympathies go out to the aged father and mother and several sisters and brothers, who mourn his death.

Alumnae Luncheon. A delightful luncheon was given yesterday at Cole's by the "Co-eds" of Richmond College to the girls of the senior class.

In all there were thirty-six young women present, among whom were several of the alumnae. The table was decorated with yellow daisies, yellow being the color scheme throughout.

Miss Baldwin, '15, was toastmaster. The alumnae were represented by Miss Reams, '12. Miss Celeste Anderson, '14, gave short sketches on the members of the graduating class, under the title "Sketches of Great Women."

Miss Helen Monnell, '16, gave the toast to the seniors, which was responded to by Miss Sands, '13.

Acquitted of Theft Charges. R. P. Jenkins was acquitted yesterday morning in Police Court of two charges of stealing small sums of money from the Rennie Dairy Company.

PETTIT FOR MAYOR OF NORTH RICHMOND

Citizens of the recently incorporated township of North Richmond, met last night in the Barton Heights School and named W. S. Pettit, of Barton Heights, as their candidate for the mayoralty in the regular election to be held June 24. The six councilmen to run on the ticket will be: James Ernest, J. G. Sellinger, C. W. Wallinger, George W. Bright, W. H. Lucy, Jr., and J. P. Haupt.

North Richmond is the newest of the suburbs of Richmond to become an independent township. It was incorporated by order entered May 29 by Judge R. Carter Scott, of the Henrico Circuit Court. The present population is about 700, but a considerable number of homes are being built, and many new families are being added. There are nearly 100 known voters, but it is expected that a considerable number of qualified Monday as registrars, will find many additional voters upon an examination of the county records.

The meeting was called to order by Mr. Wallinger, and Mr. Ernest presided. The meeting was a lively meeting and was held. The officials were selected without serious opposition, and no difficulty is expected in electing them at the regular time.

In accordance with the provisions of the Byrd law, an election was held yesterday in Glinter Park, although the Mayor and Council had just been elected.
